NORTHEAST IOWA RC&D HIRES REGIONAL WATERSHED COORDINATOR

Postville, Iowa – Paul Berland has recently been hired as a Regional Watershed Coordinator for Northeast Iowa Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D), Inc., located in Postville. A native of Decorah, Berland is returning to Northeast Iowa after working with the Agricultural Research Service division of the USDA in Charleston, SC. Berland received his Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point in 2000 and his Master of Science degree in Environmental Studies from the Graduate School at the College of Charleston, SC in 2003. In the Regional Watershed Coordinator position at Northeast Iowa RC&D, Berland will be coordinating water quality monitoring and improvement projects in the Upper Iowa River, Yellow River and Turkey River Watersheds. He will also be coordinating public outreach efforts for the watershed projects.

Northeast Iowa RC&D, Inc. is a nonprofit organization serving Allamakee, Buchanan, Clayton, Fayette, Howard, and Winneshiek counties in Northeast Iowa. The organization supports a wide variety of programs in the areas of private land conservation, community and economic development, local and value-added sustainable agriculture, education, and alternative energy, recycling and waste.
